

Claire and Andrew jumped with joy. Mommy was taking them fishing. What a beautiful sunny day; big fluffy white clouds dotted the sky and a light breeze ruffled their clothes.

“Mommy, I so love seeing the butterflies, flowers, and colorful fish,” said Claire.

“There is beauty all around us if you look for it,” said Mommy.

They walked out onto the pier overlooking the lake and sat down. They put their lines in the water and waited and waited...

Mommy opened her book and began reading aloud, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever."

Remember to look for beauty. Look for beauty in nature and on each page of this book.

Claire began to feel sleepy. “Hmm, I smell the sweet honeysuckle. How I wish I were fishing for flowers,” she daydreamed. “Would I catch...

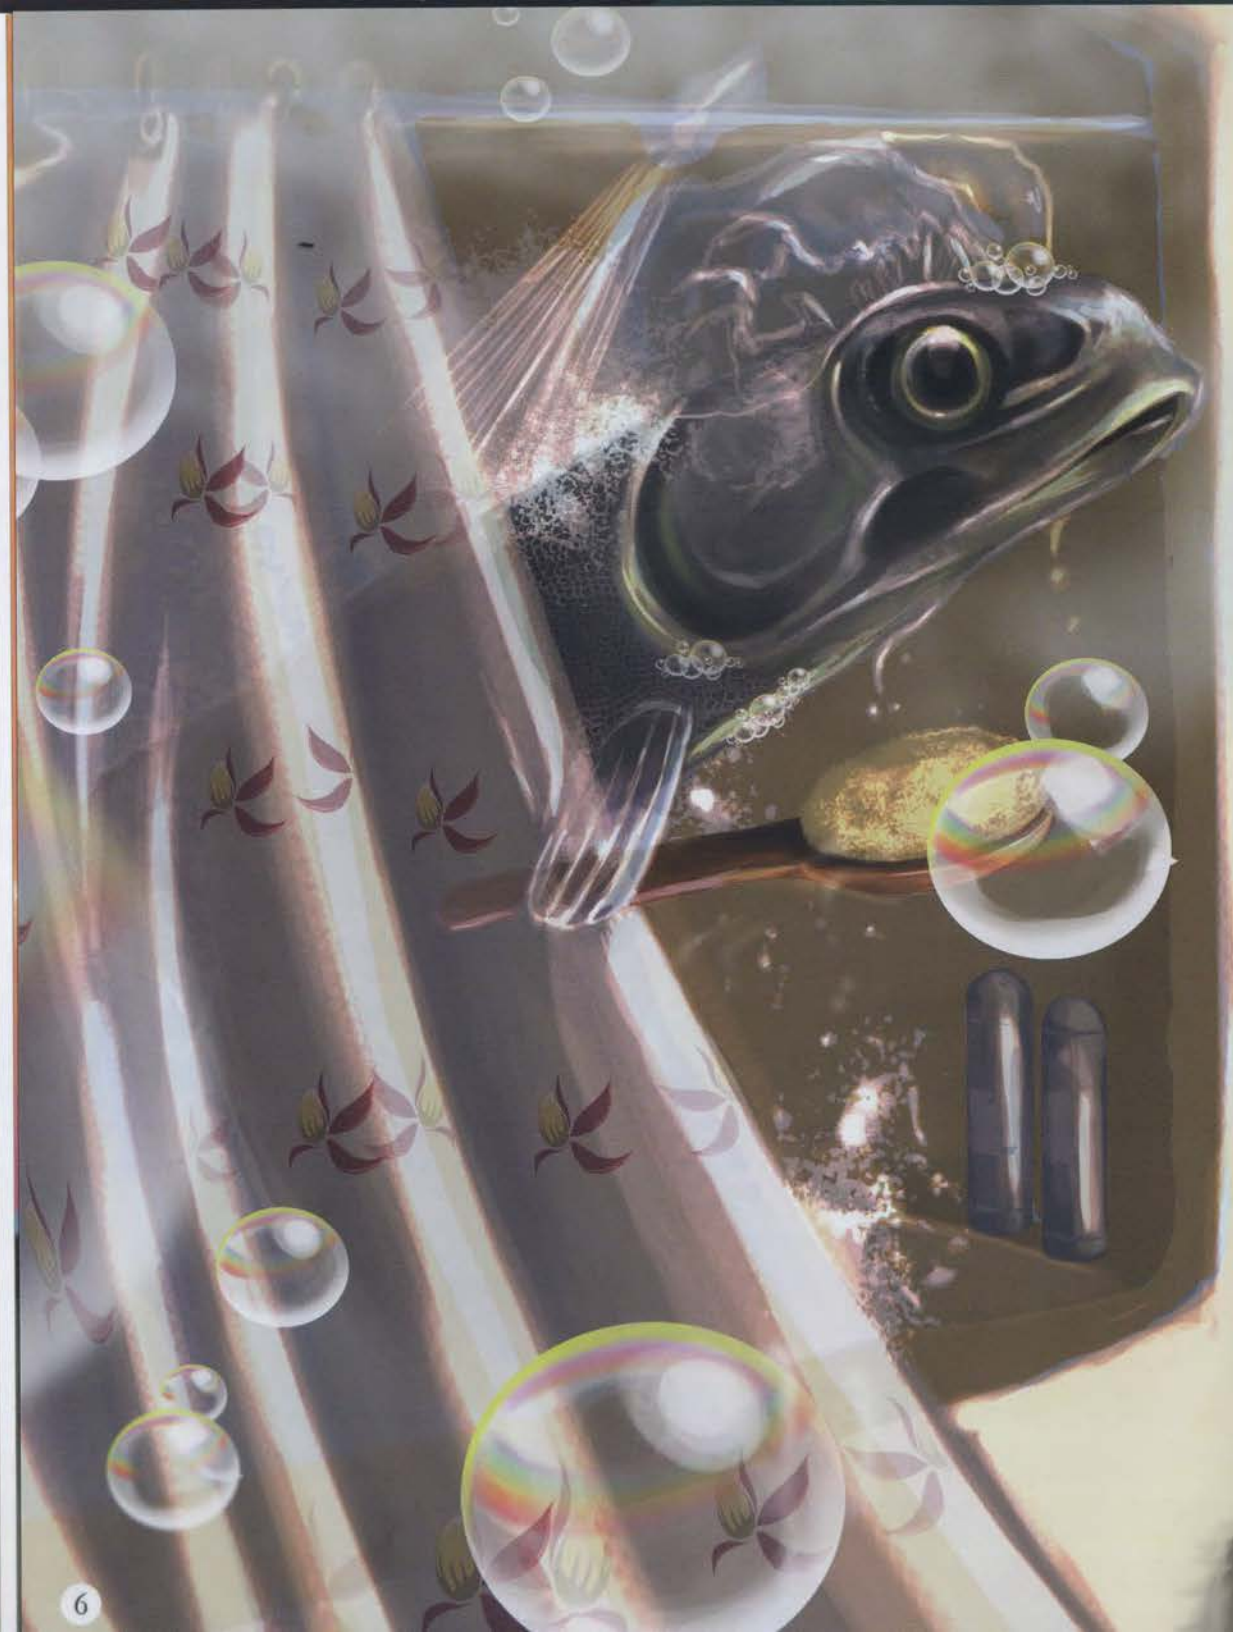

A Sunfish or a Sunflower...

Or even a Goldfish, or a Marigold...

Would I catch a
Ladyfish or a Lady Slipper...

A Lionfish or a Dandelion...
